

Help the Next Generation of Engineers

In celebration of National Engineers Week, February 19 – 25, ASQ conducted a survey of youth and parents to gauge their interest and concerns about pursuing a STEM-related career, specifically engineering. If you're an engineer and ASQ member, you recently received a survey asking what challenges you overcame to succeed, and asking what advice you can share with today's students. If you didn't receive the survey, please click on the link below.
